Fax2Mail enables you to send and receive faxes directly from your computer or mobile device, eliminating the costs and hassle of maintaining fax machines and ensuring time-sensitive documents reach intended recipients instantly.

It's as easy as sending an email.

Receive

All faxes are received via the user's email in the form of an attachment. This means that only the intended recipient has access to the fax. Faxes can be forwarded or filed by the recipient.

Send

By attaching documents to an email message or using the Send To function, documents are sent to the recipient's fax machine without the need to print or later dispose of the potentially sensitive message.

Store and Manage

Without the need for additional hardware or client software, email can be converted into a document-handling center. All inbound faxes are stored on a secure website for 30 days to protect against computer outages. Paper documents can be treated like electronic files – they can be viewed, printed, forwarded, stored or deleted.

In Standard Pricing, you also have the choice of various commitment levels: month to month plan, 12 month plan, or 24 month plan, with discounts provided for the longer term commitment.
