

The Advantages

Web Based System is Ready to Use Today

Everything is managed on the web so that means you can conduct business from anywhere. You'll be provided with unique pass codes to login for your town hall conference.

Huge Capacity and Speed

Our service and system is second to none. We can dial more numbers in less time to insure your conference is quickly filled. Have a larger list of several hundred thousand numbers you want dialed? No problem. We can reach your list in a matter of minutes.

Stay Ahead of the Informational Curve

Sometimes incorrect news or misinformation travels like wildfire and it's hard to contain. With our service, you can actually get ahead of the media and get the proper information out to those whose opinions count.

Intuitive Answering

Don't worry about not being able to reach someone. If they don't answer, our system can automatically detect an answering machine or voice mail and will leave a message so your contacts will know you were interested in hearing from them.

No Hardware or Software Necessary

The system is already up and running and you can set up an account for free. You pay on a per use basis only, avoiding any overhead or maintenance costs.

Town Hall Teleconference "Speak Directly with the People"

Talk Directly to the Most People in the Shortest Time

Press conferences are fine, but you are totally dependent on other organizations to relay what you say. Now you can take complete control and get your message out personally to thousands instantly. You can invite 10, 20, 30 thousand, or more people, in a matter of minutes to your Town Hall Conference to hear directly what you have to say, without the normal media constraints.

Your Invitees Can Participate or Opt-Out

Your invitation will be sent to thousands, but obviously, not everyone will want to participate. That's not a problem with Town Hall TeleConference. Each person on your phone list will be called with a pre-recorded invite. If they are interested in participating in your meeting, they can just stay on the line and be automatically connected to your conference. If they aren't interested or don't have the time, they simply hang up. However, even those who are not interested will realize that you've made an effort to reach them.

Complete Control with Q & A Sessions

You can program your Town Hall Conference to include a Question & Answer session, enabling your constituents or members to ask you questions. They ask, and everyone hears your answer. A great opportunity, but better yet, you have the ability to take questions anytime you want, from whomever you want. You can have a call screener who sorts questions and provides you a real time list of the questions that are in queue. If there's an important issue you want to focus on, you can go directly to the caller who is asking a question on that topic. You control the pace, the timing, and the questions you answer. Or, if you want, you can open it wide up and have folks comment or question on whatever subject they want. It's all up to you.

Huge Cost Savings Over Postage

It's simple: Postage is going up and telecommunication costs are going down. Sending direct mail is not only expensive but impersonal. Sending forms through the mail may suit some purposes, but if you're interested in cutting costs and touching the lives of thousands of people at once, you won't find a better way than with the amazing technology offered you through Town Hall Conference. Now you can save the postage and have a two-way conversation with the folks at home.

How Town Hall TeleConference Works

The Call Out

Your TeleConference starts when the system begins dialing the phone numbers on your call list. Each recipient hears a brief recorded message that invites them to your teleconference. Should they choose to participate, they only need to stay on the line to be put into the conference. For calls that go to voicemail, rather than a live answer, your recorded message will be left indicating the nature of the call.

Question & Answer Period (Optional)

During the teleconference, your participants can press "0" to indicate they would like to ask a question, and they will be put into a question queue. You will be able to see the name and location of every individual in the Q&A queue, and will control who and when they will talk live and be heard by everyone on the call. Should you need advanced information about the question topic, a member of your team can momentarily pull the caller out of the conference to get additional information, and then return them to the teleconference.

Surveys & Polling (Optional)

You also have the option to conduct a survey or poll with everyone on the Teleconference, by posing questions and having folks register their answers by pressing keys on their keypad. The response tallies are immediately available to you, and also recorded in a database record for each participant.

Additional Follow-Up (Optional)

At the end of the Teleconference, any individual that didn't have the opportunity to ask their question can be transferred to voicemail, at your discretion, to pose their question or leave comments. Those messages and the appropriate contact information are recorded and sent to you or your designated representative for further action.
